

To the Utah State Charter School Board,

I am writing to express my concerns regarding the academic support my elementary-aged child has received at Vista Charter School in Ivins, UT. My purpose in writing is to request corrective action to ensure that students who need additional academic assistance receive meaningful support and that classroom conditions allow students to learn effectively.

One of my primary concerns is the school's academic support class. While the school advertises this class as an opportunity for students who need additional help, my child's experience has been that there is little to no individualized instruction. Instead, students spend the majority of the class working independently on computer-based math programs. My child has not received consistent one-on-one instruction or targeted intervention from a teacher during this time. Simply assigning students to educational software is not an adequate substitute for personalized instruction, particularly for students who are already struggling academically.

I am also deeply concerned that my child fell further behind academically during the past school year due to ongoing behavioral disruptions in the classroom. The teacher frequently had to devote significant instructional time to managing disruptive student behavior. As a result, valuable teaching time was lost, and the overall learning environment suffered. While I understand that classroom management is a challenge educators often face, students should not lose access to quality instruction because classroom disruptions consistently consume instructional time.

Our family has been part of the Vista community for nearly six years, and we have developed a deep appreciation for both the school and the community it has built. Over the past three years, however, we have witnessed a significant decline in the quality of the school's academic instruction and arts programs, along with the departure of many outstanding teachers and staff members who were instrumental in making Vista such a special place.

My purpose in writing is not simply to express concern, but to ask for your help in restoring Vista to the exceptional school I know it can be. I believe the students, families, and dedicated educators at Vista deserve a school that once again provides the high-quality education and enriching opportunities that originally drew so many families to its community.

Thank you for taking the time to review my concerns. I appreciate your consideration and respectfully request that appropriate corrective action be taken to ensure students receive the educational support they need to succeed.
