Dear Members of the Board,

I am writing as the parent of a Vista Charter School student to formally request a review and corrective action regarding ongoing, repeated bullying incidents, communication failures, and lack of adequate supervision, over the past two years.

I have enrolled my student at Vista Charter School for the past two years. This will be our third year attending. While Vista's teachers have consistently been communicative and supportive when they are informed of concerns, they can only act on information that is actually communicated to them. On multiple occasions, I have been told that issues would be communicated to teachers from administration, only to discover later that no such communication occurred. As parents, this leaves us feeling in the dark and forces us to uncover serious matters on our own, creating an appearance of disorganization and eroding trust in the administration.

Points I wish to discuss:

1. Repeated Bullying Incidents and Lack of Supervision

My son has experienced multiple bullying incidents across first and second grade, many of which occurred in the lunch line and recess, an area where supervision has consistently been insufficient. In first grade, he was bitten on the arm hard enough to leave a visible mark. In second grade, he was full-body tackled at least twice: first during a Peter and the Wolf show rehearsal, and once outside during recess, an incident I personally witnessed while waiting in the pickup line, which tells me, because this is happening in such a short time window, it's happening very regularly throughout the day. In each case, teachers did what they could to separate the students when problems between this student and mine were brought up, but no meaningful accountability or follow-through occurred for the other party. After the biting incident we brought up to administration that we would like to have our student separated from the bully to help keep them apart, but were told that would be too much of an inconvenience. Despite the history with this student they again were placed in the same classroom in 2nd grade. And despite repeated incidents throughout both years, nothing changed in terms of supervision or preventative measures. This tells us that Vista's administration openly encourages bullying, because our student was often punished for "being involved as the victim", while the bully received no repercussions.

The most recent incident again occurred in the lunch line. Our student and another student were arguing over being line leader. My son, who has previously been excluded and yelled at by peers for trying to follow rules and has felt unsafe in this environment, was visibly upset. The other student hit him, and my student reacted by defending themselves. My student got suspended, while the bully, again, had no repercussions. I firmly believe this escalation would not have occurred had proper supervision been present and had earlier bullying concerns been addressed.

2. Communication Failures Between Administration and Teachers

On several occasions, I have been told that concerns or incidents would be communicated to my student's teachers, only to later learn that they were never informed. This breakdown prevents teachers from supporting students effectively and leaves parents feeling misled. Vista's teachers are capable and willing to help, but they cannot do so without reliable communication from administration.

My student has sought safety in the wellness center to get out of situations in which they have felt overwhelmed. There have been times when they have been afraid to tell me what goes on at school. I only find out about incidents later on when it has gotten to a point of violence or when they are disrupting class enough that it involves multiple parties. I am more than willing to talk with my child about problems or situations that have occurred but can only do so when I know what is going on.

Requested Actions:

Given the pattern described above, I respectfully request that the board: Review Vista's supervision practices, particularly in the lunch line and recess where most incidents have occurred.

Investigate communication procedures between administration and teachers to determine why concerns were not relayed as stated.

Review how bullying incidents are handled, documented, and followed up on, including accountability for the bullying party. Vista's policy on bullying should be strictly upheld, not blatantly ignored.

Consider how repeated communication failures and lack of follow-through impact parent trust and student safety.

Be given the opportunity to address situations before they get to a point of my child or any other party getting hurt.

Thank you for your time and for thoughtfully reading through this. I look forward to your review and consideration of change.

Sincerely,
A concerned parent
